SHORTAGE OF FOOD CAUSE OF CONCERN

United States Government Worried Over Effects of Drought

LOOK FOR PRICES TO RISE SHARPLY

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16 (AP)—Concern over the food situation was evident once again, today, by Secretary of Agriculture Henry Wallace's reiteration that the Government has a big stick ready for profiteers.

Statistics available bear out the contention that—despite drought damage—there will be enough food available. Most of the uneasiness in official circles revolves about the prospects of a price ascension which would pinch consumers but they howed.

WANT SLOW RISE

The farm chieftains have known all along that a gradual rise will give up. They want a gradual rise, and figured that increasing employment resulting from more farm purchasing power would pacify the average urban dweller.

The dry spell upset calculations, and the consumer may have to meet sharply-hoisted food costs without the benefits contemplated. That might make the agricultural adjustment administration very unpopular and have an effect upon the entire Government programme.

IMMEDIATE BUYING

Wallace disclosed today that purchases of cattle and sheep in the drought area might reach the huge total of 15,000,000 head instead of the 2,000,000 figured on with the most recent forecast.

Wallace admitted at his weekly press conference, steps which might be taken to back up the administration. They were study of price increases by commodities to determine to what extent they are justified; publication of the facts, and use of "moral suasion" by code authorities of industries operating under codes and agreements.

WHEAT ACREAGE CUTS DEBATED

Canada May Receive Full Export Quota of 268,000,000 Bushels

LONDON, Aug. 16 (AP)—Delegates to the International Wheat Conference, tonight, engaged in a "free-for-all" debate on acreage reduction, an agreement on which is being urged by the Canadian-United States Australian Bloc.

This bloc, composed of three of the four big producers—Argentina on the one side—is seeking an agreement also on tentative export quotas as well as a quarterly system of quotas, which would be more elastic than the annual system in effect last year.

NO QUOTAS ARRANGED

A communiqué stated that no quotas have yet been arranged, and the sub-committee, which will draw up figures, has not yet been named.

It was learned officially that the quota sub-committee probably will be named tomorrow night.

It was believed that Canada, with huge stocks, may get the full 268,000,000-bushel quota tentatively agreed upon several months ago.

ARGENTINA'S POSITION

Whether Argentina gets the 145,000,000 bushel quota arranged at that time will depend at present to depend upon how much progress has been made in acreage reduction.

Both the United States and Australia, it was said authoritatively, are likely to take substantial reductions below the tentative allotments of 150,000,000 and 84,000,000 bushels, respectively.

Bite of Wood Tick Causes Fatal Illness

SPOKANE, Aug. 16 (AP)—Spotted fever, tonight, claimed the life of Mrs. J. W. Skerry, of Seattle, after a painful illness of two weeks believed to have been brought on by the bite of an infected wood tick.

Though no trace of a tick bite was found, a blood test at the Government Laboratory in Hamilton, Mont., showed Mrs. Skerry had contracted the deadly fever.

New Expedition to Sail in Search of Pirate Treasure

LONDON, Aug. 16 (CP-Havas)—A new expedition to find the treasure supposedly hidden in the Cocos Islands by Spanish pirates, will leave this port on Saturday. The expeditionaries, forty-five in number, will sail aboard the yacht Queen of Scots. The quest has been organized as a business enterprise and is capitalized at $37,500.

MINISTER IS DUE TODAY

Hon. H. H. Stevens to Examine Sites for Federal Building

On arrival in Victoria today, Hon. H. H. Stevens, Minister of Trade and Commerce, will look into the question of a site for the proposed new Federal building here, being expected to take the matter up with Dominion works officials while in the city. Later, Mr. Stevens will be the guest speaker before a combined luncheon of the Canadian Club, the Victoria Chamber of Commerce, and business groups at the Empress Hotel. He will meet several delegations.

GOVERNMENT FRONTAGE

There is also the question of what the Federal authorities will do with existing property, including the former postal telegraph office on Government Street, which occupies ninety-five feet of retail sales space in the heart of the business district. Reversion of this site, to retail use has long been advocated.

MAINTENANCE WORKS

In addition to the $3,000,000 programme of Federal works in British Columbia, another $2,000,000 is to be spent this year on maintenance works and improvements to Federal buildings in many centres in British Columbia and the Yukon. Contracts have, in several cases, already been awarded.

VIENNA, Aug. 16 (CP-Havas)—Acknowleged as German Minister

Two sites have been proposed for the new Federal office structure, one being the existing customs, appraisal property, and the other on the western side of Johnson Street. A final decision is pending.

SELECTS SITE FOR CITY HALL

Vancouver Council Names Central School Grounds — Battle Foreseen

VANCOUVER, Aug. 16 (CP)—Central School grounds were chosen today as the site for Vancouver's city hall, and the building will be erected as soon as a money-by-law is approved by the ratepayers.

The choice was made by a seven-to-five majority vote after successive ballots had eliminated the Main Street property, opposite the C.N.R. Station and Strathcona Park. On Wednesday, the council voted in favor of a new building.

Immediately after the vote was announced, Alderman L. D. McDouald, who fought the Central Park site step by step, served notice that he would restrain by injunction the erection of the hall until "the sewerage nuisance" on Main Street is abated.

COST TOO GREAT

This area, which was given preference over the Central School site by voters at the last civic election, was eliminated as a possibility when a report from City Engineer Charles Brakenridge showed that the cost of sewerage disposal would be approximately $260,000.

With the decision made, a committee consisting of Aldermen G. C. Miller, A. G. Harvey and H. J. de Graves was appointed to prepare plans.

FINANCING METHODS

Three methods of financing, all of which have to be approved by ratepayers, were proposed. They are:

1. flotation of a bond issue for $750,000.
2. diversion of unexpended balances remaining from the Burrard Bridge to the purpose.
3. conclusion of an agreement with British capitalists for the re-quoted sum.

WARFARE IN CHACO SECTION RENEWED

An official Paraguayan announcement said its troops had captured Fort Pueblo from the Bolivians, and killed scores of the defending force of 1,000.

HALTS ORATORY FOR FEW HOURS

Germans Ordered to Fly Nazi Flags Until After Sunday's Plebiscite

BERLIN, Aug. 16 (AP)—The waves of political oratory which have been billowing over Germany without backwash were halted abruptly, tonight, to provide a dramatic pause in advance of Adolf Hitler's personal plea for support of his policies in the plebiscite on Sunday.

The Chancellor, who wants the German people to shout an enthusiastic and unanimous "Ja" to his assumption of presidential powers, will speak between 8 and 10 o'clock, tomorrow night.

To signalize the speech, which will be broadcast far beyond Germany's borders, Propaganda Minister Joseph Goebbels declared Friday to be a "national day of rejoicing."

The public was told to display even more visible Nazi flags and to keep the swastika in the breeze until after the plebiscite.

This public order came on the heels of secret instructions to the Nazi party members to cease using the old black, white and red Imperial flag, which was readopted when the republic fell.

This was taken to indicate that eventually the Nazi swastika will have the flagpoles of Germany exclusively to itself.

The lack of major oratory tonight was regarded as intended to stimulate national suspense in anticipation of the address in which Hitler will wield the arguments of the past into a highly-emotionalized plea for public support.

LONDON'S GROWTH HITS GOLF LINKS

Suburban Courses Are Broken Up as Fairways Go for Lots for Building

LONDON—The latest doomed golf course in London whose fairways will soon be streets, is the North Surrey golf course, at Norbury, S.W., which is to be handed over to the builders at Christmas. This is at present one of the nearest courses to the city, and for forty years it has been the boast that any one of its 600 members could leave his town office and be on the first tee within an hour.

Golfers are being rapidly driven out of the London suburbs. Increased land values are making it almost impossible for clubs whose leases are "falling in" to renew them and streets of houses are springing up in their steads.

"Practically every fisherman owns a motorboat, and it is not now necessary as formerly for them to engage in close proximity to the fishing grounds."

A sub-committee was appointed to study the proposal and report on its possibilities.

Winter brings tragedy to many Newfoundland outposts, especially when the Summer fisheries have yielded meager returns. It often means months of severe hardship, with scanty food supplies, and Spring sometimes finds half the people in a village suffering from beri-beri or other diseases.

The council takes control of the whole course.

ENGLISH IS EASY FOR DANISH GIRL

SAINT JOHN, N.B., Aug. 16.—The English language may be difficult for most foreigners, but not for fifteen-year-old Gerda Hoy Jensen, golden-haired Danish girl. She came to Canada with her family in 1922, and since then not only learned the language of her new country, but passed through four grades in school. This year she made a total of $51 and placed in the honor list of high school entrance pupils here.

When she arrived in Canada, Gudrun determined to learn the language as quickly as possible. From his first, the defendant drew a paper bag.

"Nuts. Your Honor—peanuts," he grasped. "One stuck in my throat just as you called my case—my voice went..."

Stauffacher swallowed the peanut, but Judge Scott refused to swallow his alibi and "shelled out" a thirty-day sentence.

other buildings, including the reeve's ranch. The relief camp is in the path of the fire, but it is not in danger, and there are sufficient men at the camp to stop spreading.

Another spot fire broke out in the vicinity of Archie Bremner's ranch, to endanger the ranch and Doukhobor dwellings. The wind stirred the fire up considerably during the day.

Sixteen men were dispatched to Gudrun, determined to learn the language as quickly as possible. She had been taught English in her native land, but not to a similar extent as she had to study hard at first.

The defendant bared his teeth and hissed; the judge's face reddened.

"So you won't talk, eh?" commented the court.

From his first, the defendant drew a paper bag.

"Nuts. Your Honor—peanuts," he grasped. "One stuck in my throat just as you called my case—my voice went..."

Stauffacher swallowed the peanut, but Judge Scott refused to swallow his alibi and "shelled out" a thirty-day sentence.

MEETING ENDS IN GENERAL DISORDER

STRATFORD, Ont., Aug. 16 (CP)—Several persons were arrested, tonight, when the meeting of the Furniture and Woodworkers' Union broke up in暴乱 with fists being exchanged.

The meeting was held at the home of Archie Bremner's ranch, to endear the ranch and Doukhobor dwellings.

The fire started during the meeting.

GAINING GROUND

The second relief fire is gaining ground, but is burning away from the mine buildings, three and one-half miles distant.

West of Nelson the ten-mile fire was also stirred by the wind, but, on the ridges, gave little trouble.

Guards have been completed on the lower section and all but sufficient for patrol will be on duty.

Forty-Nine Creek fire is out, but, there were reports that smoke was seen coming up at a new point.

A KIDNAPPING CASE

What may be described as a major kidnapping case has taken place in this country with the seizing and holding for ransom of Mr. John Labatt, a brewer of London, Ontario. The abductors demand $150,000 for his release, a sum higher than that set in the tragic Lindbergh baby case. Crime of this variety is almost unknown in Canada and it will be the manner in which the present case is dealt with that will determine whether there are to be recurrences of such instances.

News dispatches from Toronto say that a brother of the abducted man is ready to pay the ransom and is awaiting information as to how the money is to be transferred, while at the same time he is closely guarded by police and detectives. The police are investigating every telephone call reaching Mr. Hugh Labatt, the brother of the captured man, and the abductors are being made fully aware of this through the columns of the press. It is a strange situation. The abductors openly are being asked to walk into a police trap while at the same time the family of the abducted man are seemingly willing to pay the ransom for his release. The police obviously do not intend that ransom will be paid unless such action leads instantly to the capture of the criminals, who possibly at this time are located on the American side.

The only way to deal with kidnapping is to bring all the forces of the law into play to apprehend the abductors, and, if their crime is proved, to punish them in the full rigor of the Criminal Code. It is an incentive to such crimes where there are efforts at compounding a felony between relatives of the person abducted and the abductors. In the Labatt case there is probably no such intention because police are watching every move, and while the money is available for the ransom, it is merely the bait to bring the criminals to justice. The trouble is, however, that the abductors know this. They cannot fail to know it if they read the newspapers, and it is hardly thinkable that they will willingly walk into the trap.

The police in this country have several warning examples because of happenings in the United States. It is their task, undeterred by any influence and backed by the full power of the Government, to bring the abductors of Mr. Labatt to the bar of justice. The speedier the manner in which this is done the more likelihood there is that there will be no repetition of such happenings in Canada.

ALCOHOL'S EFFECTS

Despite extensive studies there are still mysteries to be probed to correlate the degree of intoxication with the concentration of alcohol in the blood. There are, however, superficial evidences of intoxication in persons which vary greatly according to the individual, and which are based to some extent on temperament, constitution, the degree of emotionalism, physical strength and perhaps above all on mental capacity. What rarely enters into the field of alcoholic research is the realization that the ability to stand strong drink is largely a question of brain capacity. The feebler that is the more degrading are the effects of anything in the nature of over-indulgence.

There are various forms in which the effects of alcohol become apparent in the individual. Some become excitable, others silly; the usually stupid person may have dull mentality tilliated; some drinkers become merely gross; others buoyant, talkative, egotistic and unrestrained; yet others, sloppy and animalistic. There are, too, the different effects of varying alcoholic stimulants and the still more distinguishing effects of mixed drinking, or the absorption of concoctions made up of what nature never intended should coalesce. The care free drinker, or those wholly uninhibited in the art, will consume something of everything in sight and will suffer in proportion the morning after. The seeds of much ill health have been sown in these latter years through the processes of mixed drinking, that is asking the body to absorb what it cannot do without disturbing the seat of reason, to say nothing of injuring the digestive tract.

There are certain rule of thumb generalizations affecting human consumption of alcohol. For instance, a concentration of 1-10 to 2-10 of 1 per cent of alcohol in the blood gives rise to definite signs of intoxication. If that concentration rises beyond 4-10 or 5-10 of 1 per cent unconsciousness supervenes. Alcohol contents in the blood lead to diminution of skill and accuracy in tests of coordination. That is illustrated in marksmanship and in all games where concentration is required and in which the eye must be at its clearest. It is admitted that the response of the individual to alcohol shows differences according to personality.

Mr. H. W. Haggard in the Yale Review has been discussing this subject, which doubtless has become of greater importance in the United States now that Prohibition is at an end. He says that research has proved that the differences in individuals excited by alcohol are perhaps more apparent in vivacity of behaviour than in judgment. The point attained seems to have some dependence on brain power. Mr. Haggard says that under the same amount of alcohol the temperament of the phlegmatic individual is lifted to that of the average man; the average man in turn becomes the life of the party, and the vivacious lady becomes a mild maniac, a general nuisance. Mr. Haggard, however, admits that there is much yet to be learned and that science has not solved the very crux of the physiological problem of alcohol, namely, what is its action on the brain? Of this Mr. Haggard says:

"The results of this action are evident, but the precise functional changes in the brain which produce them are unknown. Nor is the problem limited to alcohol; it applies likewise to the whole field of anaesthetics. Alcohol is an anaesthetic just as is ether. Ether has been used to produce intoxication; alcohol has been used to produce surgical anaesthesia. The fundamental biological problems of the two—the action of all anaesthetics upon the nervous system are inseparable and unsolved."

UNEASINESS ABOUT NEW DEAL

Prices on the New York Stock Exchange constitute a barometer which points to the success or otherwise of reconstruction policies in the United States. That barometer for several weeks past has indicated uneasiness over the present trend of economic affairs. There have been weak prices and heavy selling and the selling orders have come from all parts of the country. This indicates a certain pessimism, probably because all that has been claimed for the New Deal is not evident in recent indices of trade and production. The fact is that since May there has been a decline in production of about 15 per cent over and above normal seasonal recession. In the retail trade the decline is held to mark growing doubts of the future in the mind of the public.

Mr. Henderson the chief of the NRA research division forecasts a substantial recovery of business in the Autumn. The two features of the situation that are worrying the Administration are the increasing labor unrest and the failure to secure any revival either in the capital market or in durable goods industries. A point has been reached where economic recovery is awaiting a greater flow of private capital into industry. Since this is, so far, not forthcoming the Administration is being subjected to criticism and is devising new ways and means, inflationary and otherwise, to give a fillip to the situation. The reason private capital is shy, so far as industrial undertakings are concerned, is because of a belief that governmental regulations are strangling business. Moreover, there is grave uneasiness because of inflationist propaganda which is demanding a further devaluation of the dollar in terms of gold.

There is one American among the crew of the Endeavour, the challenger for the America's Cup. He is Beecher Moore, a lad who, Mr. Sopwith, says, after the strike of the professional seamen, came to his office and "was so darned persistent that the only way to get rid of him was to sign him up. He's a jolly fine lad." On the defender—the Rainbow—many of the crew are Scandinavians and that crew has been to gather of many months which may give them some advantage over the amateur sailors of the Endeavour.

The majority of people in Ontario have not been converted permanently to Liberalism; they are still Conservatives at heart. There is a saying now in circulation in the Niagara peninsula, where they are suffering from drought, which ought to warn the Queen of the Queen's Park: "Since we abandoned the Conservative party we voted for Hepburn, we have not had a drop of rain. It looks like a visitation upon us for our disloyalty."—Hamilton Spectator.

Note and Comment

By R. B. D.

To first thy soul with crosses and with crosses,
To eat thy heart through comfortless dispairs,
To faint in crowds, to waste, to ride,
To spend, to give, to want, to be undone,
—Spenser.

A United States Polonius has been telling the youth of his country how to get along in life although the times are hard. This modern philosopher advises callow youth to pay attention to his studies in the public schools, qualify for entrance to the universities (there are many of them), acquire an academic degree, become a professor, and apply for a position in the government service. The young man may never become a member of a Brain Trust, but if he attends to his studies as diligently as the boy on H.M.S. Phaeton he may live in idleness and comfort forever after the expense of the taxpayer.

That is not exclusively an American ideal. There are multitudes of boys and not a few men in Canada who cherish like ambitions. There are rumors in circulation, which probably could be confirmed by members of the British Columbia Liberal Government, that there are one or two youths and fully grown men in this province who would be willing to serve the people at reasonable rates of remuneration. But it is this prevailing ideal which makes the job of governing the country hard. A few days ago Hon. Wells Gray was moved to issue a rebuke to government office seekers. There are too many men of all ages, and even women of indefinite ages, eager to labor in the service of the state.

We observe, after scanning the pages of some of the United States newspapers that President Roosevelt is harassed and troubled by this modern problem. The President, under advice, and presumably some pressure, has added more than six thousand names to the civil service list since he attained office. People of all ages in the United States are following the advice of the modern Polonius. Other American sages, however, are asking what the inevitable outcome must be with a growing increase in the cost of government and mounting Federal treasury deficits. The President is reminded at intervals that when he was appealing for office one of the charges of the Democratic Party was that the Republican administration was extravagant and one of the pledges given was that the cost of government would be reduced.

The way of the statesmen in these latter days is like the way of the transgressor in all days. It is hard. The public is like the individual as described by Hon. H. H. Stevens. It is a hard taskmaster. There must be a fascination which the unambitious individual cannot understand about public life, or there would be no candidates for such offices as Prime Minister of Canada or for the Premierships of the various provinces. Governments are expected to restore prosperity, and if they fail in that impossible job, they are looked to provide work and wages, or wages without work, for all who are idle in consequence of stagnation in industries.

Governments cannot perform miracles. They cannot "make money," notwithstanding a more or less general public illusion. Money cannot be made by that magical machine, the printing press. If it could the people of the nations of the world would be literally rolling in money. Money cannot be made at all in the literal sense

TAKEN BY DEATH

One of British Columbia's Best-Known Criminal Lawyers Passed at Vancouver

VANCOUVER, Aug. 16 (CP)—One of British Columbia's outstanding criminal lawyers, Francis J. Lyons, sixty-four, died here, today, after a lengthy illness.

Born in Maryborough, Queensland, Australia, deceased graduated in law at Sydney, and in 1911 arrived in the United States to engage in aviation work, then in its pioneering stage. In 1911 he came to Vancouver, entering a partnership in law with J. A. Russell, the following year opening his own office.

His last important criminal case was the defence, several years ago, of Stewart Northcott in his fight against extradition to Los Angeles in the famous Wineville, Calif., "chicken-ranch" murders, for which Northcott was later hanged.

WHEN YOU'RE HEALTHY YOU'RE HAPPY!

The blame for "blue" days can be laid often to common constipation. It may bring loss of appetite and energy, sallow and pimply skin, even serious illness. Correct it by eating a delicious cereal.

Research shows Kellogg's All-Bran provides "bulk" and vitamin B to relieve common constipation. Also iron for the blood.

The "bulk" in All-Bran is much like that in leafy vegetables. Is this better than taking patent medicines—so often harmful?

Two tablespoonsfuls of All-Bran daily, relieve most types of constipation. With each meal, in chronic cases. If not relieved this way, see your doctor. Get the red - and - green package at your grocer's. Made by Kellogg in London, Ontario.

The First Dominion Day

Within a few months of Confederation (July 1st, 1867), the EMU Company came into existence.

In those days the pioneering of Australian Wines—like the pioneering of the Fathers of Confederation—was difficult work.

But we have won through.

Two wines which have made a considerable reputation throughout Canada are EMU 444 and EMU 999—White and Tawny Port. They are produced on our own vineyards at Morphett Vale (South Australia), aged in-the-wood and are wines of outstanding quality.

They cost you considerably less than Foreign Port of equal quality because their Empire origin entitles them to a preferential tariff when entering Canada.

EXPLORER WAS READY TO DIEByrd Had Little Hope of Seeing Friends After Being
Stricken Ill

LITTLE AMERICA, Antarctica, Aug. 16 (Via Mackay Radio-AP)—A message from Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd's advance base revealed today that the noted explorer once resigned himself to death as the result of illness suffered during the latter weeks of his lonely four and a half month vigil.

Dr. Thomas C. Poulter, leader of the tractor expedition which now is at the advance base, reported in a radio message that Admiral Byrd left a note giving directions for the relief party, which he feared would arrive too late.

Dr. Poulter reported that Admiral Byrd was stricken about the first of June, and that he became so ill he all but resigned himself to death.

HAD LITTLE STRENGTH

His weakness was so great that after he had finished his daily observations he had no strength for anything else and calmly prepared for the end.

During this period, Dr. Poulter said, the admiral required hours to complete the simplest tasks of his routine, and particularly found it difficult to crank the hand generator for his semi-weekly radio schedules with Little America.

By tinkering with the stove and the transportation business of this country. In 1901 he left the Canadian Pacific Railway and later became general traffic manager for Canadian Northern Railways and steamships. Mr. Shaw is now retired.

Colonel Baker is survived by his widow, at home; two daughters, Mrs. F. A. MacCallum, Prince Rupert, and Mrs. C. Wentworth Clarke, Vancouver, and one brother, John G. Baker, Coquitlam, Ont.

Funeral services will be conducted Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock, after which the remains will be forwarded to Vancouver for cremation.

APPEAL TO VICTORIA FOR DATA ON METHODS OF CITY ADVERTISING

Victoria's fame as a tourist attraction is apparently recognized by the Maritime and Eastern provinces of Canada, as those provinces have recently written Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau, asking for an outline of the methods used here to attract and retain place this city before the people of Canada and the United States.

The recent establishment of the Dominion Tourist Bureau at Ottawa has made many Eastern centres tourist-conscious.

THE BRUTE
Wife: "Don't you think a man has more sense after he's married?"
"Yes, but it's too late then."

During one of these conversations Admiral Byrd reported his "inside thermometer" had crashed to the floor. But thermometers which give the official readings were found intact.

Dr. Poulter said Admiral Byrd, except when he made the rounds of his instruments, stayed in his sleeping bag. Most of the time he had written on various people and things the letters could be read. Even thinking the tractor would arrive too late he had written us a note which he had left on the table but which he put out of sight when we entered the shack.

"I marvel at how complete a set of scientific data he has obtained and how painstaking his efforts have been.

The thermometer that was broken was not the recording thermometer so he has a continuous temperature record."

The message, Dr. Poulter referred to when Admiral Byrd's bi-weekly reports to Little America and the safety measures he dictated in reference to Dr. Poulter's proposed tractor trip to the advance base in connection with meteorological observations.

Gladys Glad On Beauty

Over in Cannes, that famous French beach resort, when a really smart woman now drops into a beauty salon for a facial, she doesn't expect the treatment to include her face alone. A facial, in that part of the globe, means not only a beautifying treatment for the face, but for the shoulders and back as well. And the treatment is a mighty popular one among the habitues of that gay resort.

Over in this country, some of the more progressive salons are now starting such treatments. But personally, I wish more of them would. It would certainly help to make women more back-conscious. Unusually many women are now using. And yet so many women expose such backs because of their liking for the backless bathing suits and frocks included in Summer styles.

Always make sure that your back is smooth and clear-skinned before you ever expose it. Pimples and rashes that break out on the back are usually due to improper diet. When large amounts of rich, heavy foods, sweets and starches are eaten, the blood stream becomes polluted Anxious to have his sailboat photographed, little Bruce Gordon Irving poses before the camera. He is the only son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Bruce Irving, of 1547 Foul Bay Road, and will be four years old in October. His grandparents are Mrs. P. A. Irving, 622 Cook Street, and Mr. and Mrs. S. with poisons. If the back is marred with blemishes, the diet should be simplified. It should consist chiefly of fresh fruits and vegetables. Bran, agar, onions, spinach, oranges, figs, dates and the like should be eaten liberally. And plenty of water should be imbibed each day.

A vigorous cleansing of the back is also necessary each day so that the pores are kept free from all impurities. This can best be administered when taking the nightly bath. Before you step into your tub of water, apply a generous coating of cleansing cream to your back. Massage it well into your skin, and then step into your tub of warm water.

Relax in the water for a bit so that its warmth will stimulate the activity of the pores and enhance the cleansing abilities of the cream. Then scrub your back with a soft, pale, bland soap, using a long-handled brush. And after the bath, apply a good, soothing astringent to your back. Such an astringent will not only close the pores and tone up the skin, but will also prove very soothng and healing for any blemishes on the back.

PRICE-PATTERSON

The marriage was quietly solemnized on Wednesday afternoon, at the residence of the officiating minister, Rev. J. S. Patterson, Esquimalt Road, of Jessie, younger daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Angus Patterson of Kenton, Manitoba, and Mr. Chester Price, youngest son of Mrs. Price and the late Mr. W. H. Price, Victoria. The bride was given in marriage by her sister, Mrs. George English, and was attended by Mrs. M. Mitchell, while Mr. Garrison supervised the groom. An informal reception was held later at the home of the bride's brother, Reginald and sister, Mr. and Mrs. W. McCarrison, Craigflower Road, after which Mr. and Mrs. Price left for Seattle, from where they will motor to Portland. On their return, they will make their home at 1144 Hillside Avenue.

Fairfield W.M.S. Held Session on Beach Yesterday

The August meeting of the Women's Missionary Society of Fairfield United Church was held at Rescue Bay, yesterday afternoon. Mrs. W. Bevan, 2078 Penzance Street, acting as hostess. A gratifying number of members gathered on the beach, and Mrs. C. A. Fields presided.

After the singing of a hymn, prayers, responsive reading of Psalm 19, Miss Edith Hopkins read the devotional leaflet. Letters describing holiday seasons in different parts of the mission field were read, including Africa, China, Japan, Korea, India, Trinidad, and the homeland, six ladies taking the different fields.

Mrs. D. E. Dent reported for Christian stewardship, and Mrs. S. Jackson for visitation. Mr. Arthur Dowd reported as secretary for the absence of Mrs. G. G. Green, who is away on holiday. Miss Edith Hopkins presented the treasurer's report. A feature of the proceedings was W. Bevan's temperance recitation in the Yorkshire dialect, for which he was heartily applauded, and during the afternoon he gave two more recitations, which were much appreciated.

Tea was served on the beach, and a very enjoyable hour was before a hearty vote of thanks to the host and ladies was recorded; also to C. A. Fields and Miss Hopkins for transportation.

North and South Saanich Agricultural Society to Hold Fair on September 18 and 19

The prize list for the sixty-sixth annual Fall Fair of the North and South Saanich Agricultural Society, September 18 and 19, will be issued shortly.

The various committees in charge have been meeting during the last few months and the different sections have been considerably revised.

The cattle section has new features added, and a cup has been donated by the Royal Bank at Victoria, and a new trophy will be awarded to the exhibition obtaining most points in the Holstein classes.

A team-pulling competition in the horse section should add greatly to the competitive spirit.

The women's work classes, as in former years, will appeal to housewives, both in cooking and fancy work. There will be the usual school works, sports, photography and the dog show, which was introduced last year for the first time.

GREAT BRIDGES ARE DESCRIBED

D. E. Moran, Consulting Engineer, Speaks of San Francisco Projects

San Francisco is now actively engaged in building two great bridges across its harbor. One, the Golden Gate Bridge, is a single span structure which, when completed, will cost $30,000,000, and the other, the Trans-Bay Bridge, will be seven miles in length and have a total cost of $70,000,000 when finished in 1937.

To the foregoing facts, D. E. Moran, New York City, partner in the firm of Moran & Proctor, consulting engineers, added a few points of special interest in an interview at the Empress Hotel. As senior partner of the firm of Moran & Proctor, Mr. Moran is en route to San Francisco to confer with officials in connection with the Trans-Bay Bridge. His firm is represented on the board of engineers for the State of California, which is behind the bridge construction. Also, the firm acts as consulting engineers for the building of the Golden Gate Bridge piers.

TUNNEL UNIT

A portion of the Trans-Bay Bridge system is a short tunnel on Goat Island, in the centre of San Francisco Bay, where piers for two sections of the bridge are sunk. Mr. Moran explained that this bridge, which is also known as the San Francisco-Oakland Bridge, is state controlled and a self - liquidating project, and a portion of its construction funds is being furnished by the United States Federal Government, he added.

The Trans-Bay Bridge will connect several large settlements with San Francisco, namely Oakland, Berkeley and other large towns around the Bay. At present these cities are connected only by ferries, the visitor went on to say.

GOLDEN GATE BRIDGE

The Golden Gate Bridge will be unique. It will be the longest single span in the world, being over 4,000 feet clear span, it was pointed out by Mr. Moran. The bridge will be seen for many miles, as it will be swung over the world - famous Golden Gate narrows, and will connect the peninsula on which San Francisco stands with Marin County, chiefly an undeveloped country. It will serve coastwise traffic, and while at present there is no direct ferry plying between the two points, the bridge will connect the Coast road north and south of the Golden Gate.

Mr. Moran explained this bridge, although privately promoted, has the counties it will serve behind it, they having bonded themselves for the necessary amount to build.

Dionne Quintuplets Make Progress

In the little town of Corbeil, in Northern Ontario, the famous Dionne quintuplets are making history. It is the first time in medical history that quintuplets have lived so long. The above photograph shows the constant guardians of the babies' health. From left to right they are: Nurse Madame Louise de Kerelin, Dr. A. R. Dafoe and Nurse Yvonne Leroux.

CHAPTER XVIII

"It's a gift," Joey explained. "First job I had the head bell hop says short men tip better than tall men. So we took to guessin' how much we'd get, according to height. We made little marks on all the bedroom doors, so we could tell exactly how tall they were. As soon as someone come along, if we was on duty together, we say 'Five seven,' or 'Five eleven,' whichever he thought, and 'Two bits' or 'A dime.' And I'd say, 'I raise you a half an inch and drop you a nickel,' according to how it seemed. I could out-guess him on height every time, and on tips seven times out of ten. They're the first two things I notice about folks. But I don't have to figure any more. The minute I see a man, the right height pops into my head."

"How can you be sure?" asked Higgins, "that Dennis Swift didn't scratch down to look short?"

"Two inches?" Joey's voice was scornful. "He would have looked scrunched if he did. But this Dennis Swift was as straight as Mr. Dinard there."

Alby turned to Coggs. "And this gas inspector, how did his height compare with Dinard's?"

Coggs looked Sheridan up and down. "I'm no bell hop, but I'll swear it was the same fella."

"Well, check up on him," said Alby, standing up. "And now, except for Dr. and Mrs. Coe, you may all go home for the present."

"You mean," Coggs' voice was shrill, "that you're letting Dinard get away—that after all the evidence—"

"No one is getting away," said Alby. "But I'd be interested to hear just what you mean by all the evidence."

Adelaide went over to Alby. "Let me wait, too, Mr. Alby. I'm not going home. I'm not going to leave Mr. Dinard a minute till this terrible thing is settled. Not a minute till he knows who's been enough to borrow money from them. I've seen that couple, Mr. and Mrs. Coggs. And Mr. Dinard and Miss Sayre, though I've never met them before."

"And Dr. Coe?" "Never saw him in my life."

"And Mrs. Coe?" Alby persisted. Sarah Tidewell looked at Mrs. Coe still for a moment or two. "She said,

Verdun Park Footballers Capture Dominion Title by Trimming Albert Reds

Eastern Champions Trim Prairie Team In Third Match, 4-1

Montreal Squad Takes Easy Decision From Western Titleists to Annex Blue Ribbon of Dominion Soccerdom—Winners Lead at Interval by One-Goal Margin

WINNIPEG, Aug. 16 (CP)—The flashing feet of Verdun Park, Montreal, tonight won from the Dominion Football Association championship. The Eastern champions, Prince Albert City Reds, Western Canada finalists, by a score of 4-1, to retain for the East the historic title won last year by the historic Scottish.

A crowd of 2,600 saw the Parkers take a lead of 2-1 in the first half, and increase their margin by two goals in the second half, in the third of their three-match series for the blue ribbon of Canadian soccer. Reds evened the series 2-2, last Tuesday, after Montreal won the first game by 4-0.

Playing a pretty passing game, the Montrealers went into the lead in the seventh minute with Holmshaw, hefty half-back, scored from a goal-mouth scrum. Rugged "Taffy" Davies equalized for the Reds twenty minutes later, but Castonguay put his mates back in the lead just before half-time.

Prince Albert struggled manfully to even the count in the second half. They had the better of the early exchanges until Verdun again made it 3-1 in the thirtieth minute. Larry Fitzpatrick, clever Verdun pivot man, netted the fourth just before the final whistle ended the game.

Reds tired perceptibly in the second half, faltered on plays that carried them through to victory in easier games. The dynamic "Taffy" Davies, hefty centre forward, carried the same force that spell defeat for the Parkers in the second game, but the Saskatchewan defence did not seem able to cope with the speedy Eastern forward line.

The combination of Bennett-Fitzpatrick and Castonguay proved a constant thorn in the sides of the Reds. They combined, in several clever raids and scored. Reds, on the other hand, passed up some early-game scoring opportunities before the Easterners found their balance.

A few minutes after the kick-off Proudfoot, Red pivot man, headed over the bar. McIntryne, inside left, missed a second scoring chance a minute later by shooting past an open net corner. The early pace was fast.

OPENING SCORING

Verdun settled down shortly after Holmshaw gave his mates a one-goal lead. The score resulted from a corner kick: Castonguay placed the ball near the far post with a pretty drop. Holmshaw retrieved it from a scrimmage to tap it into the net.

The Red defence appeared to be jumpy under the pressure as the Parkers played around their net. After half an hour, Byars, Prince Albert outside right, broke away and carried the ball to within eight yards of the Verdun net.

A quick pass to Davies, and the big fellow headed the ball past McLean to even the score.

Play for a time centred in the Verdun area until Castonguay broke away on the wing. Bennett brought the forward line in, and Milne came out to clear a hard drive. Castonguay caught the rebound to make the score 2-1 just before half-time.

The Reds assumed the offensive after the change-over, in a last effort to escape elimination. McIntryne shot past the Verdun net from close range on a free kick. A few minutes later, Reds missed another opportunity when Duder, left-half, shot straight at McLean, Montreal net-man.

INCREASE LEAD

The Eastern champions carried play up the field, where Bennett blocked a pass from Quinn and whipped the ball past Milne with a lightning drive from close in. From this point on, Reds' attack weakened. Larry Fitzpatrick sailed in on

NICHOL CUP MATCH SET FOR TODAY

Annual International Fixture of Seniors to Take Place at Colwood Course

With both teams at full strength, today's international match between Canadian and American golfers, in the twelfth annual Seniors' Northwest Association, at the Royal Colwood course, is expected to be one of the closest in recent years. The winning aggregation will take possession of the Nichol Cup for the next twelve months. Play will be over eighteen holes, with Col. J. P. Fell, of Vancouver, a former grand champion, captain of the Canadian side, and W. H. Abbott, 1933 champion and this year's medalist, of Bellingham, ahead of the United States squad.

Players not playing in class or flight finals may carry out their matches in the forenoon if arrangements are made with their partners and opponents, otherwise the matches will take place after lunch. The teams will go out in foursomes, although the matches will be one of the closest in recent years.

The old controversy about that "slashing style of trundling" which all but replaced "bodyline" will be fought to a finish regardless of the time limit, states that even if Voce is not on the invited list, it is possible he may play. He pleaded tonight for "more of the true spirit of cricket and less warfare."

Harold Bushby, the Aussies' manager, also pleaded for a return to the old gentlemanly spirit. He categorically denied any Australian protests at Nottingham.

To the uninitiated, whether a cricket bowler aims at the stumps and incidentally raps the defender, or merely sends his delivery down the middle where the batsman has to step into it, may not seem of great moment, but this is cricket, the grand old game, and approaching is the "crucial" test match, which not only decides the year's rubber but decides the balance of victories ever since they started in 1876.

The Aussies have made it an issue, and looked at in the popular spirit, there have been less important issues between the Mother Country and Her Dominions. The men from Down Under have their supporters in England, too. Many old cricket stalwarts shudder to think of "bodyline" bowling, so ably demonstrated in Australia by England's Harold Larwood, cricket's fastest bowler, being thoroughly exploited. So far the M.C.C., which rules the cricket world with the hand of a Mussolini, has refused to ban it.

Slashing Style of Trundling as Displayed by Voce Draws Criticism From Aussies—May Walk Off If He Appears on Field

LONDON, Aug. 16 (CP cable)—Withdrawal had been forced by Aussies protests.

Some English experts persisted that the Australians had flatly warned that if Voce were to appear against them in the critical test, and used that style of attack, they would walk off the field, which simply "isn't done." The crowd at Nottingham believed this and gave the Aussies a barking which must have been reminiscent of Melbourne and Sydney.

Sir Stanley Jackson, chief of the English selectors for Saturday's deciding match, which incidentally, will be fought to a finish regardless of the time limit, states that even if Voce is not on the invited list, it is possible he may play. He pleaded tonight for "more of the true spirit of cricket and less warfare."

Four Times Holder Of Canadian Title Eliminates B.C. Ace

London Veteran Continues Steady Play to Reach Last Four in Annual Tournament—Jack Matson Falls by Wayside Before Ernie Palmer—Campbell Advances

By J. P. SANDERSON
Canadian Press Staff Writer.

LAVAL-SUR-LE-LAC, Que., Aug. 16 (CP)—An unassuming shot-maker from the West, who trudged through the rolling fairways of this French-Canadian course, shooting consistently golf-scores, stepped off the 18th green today to find himself in the glare of golfdom's spotlight. Ernie Palmer, twenty-one-year-old Winnipegger, entered the semi-final round tomorrow.

Once again Campbell demonstrated it will take sub-par golf to beat him. In the morning round the twenty-year-old Pacific Coast star eliminated Willard Crossley, Boston, shooting 4 under par for the seventeen holes. He came back in the afternoon to smother Fred Hobzit, the Toronto veteran, 6 and 5, shooting 3 under par for the distance.

FEATURE MATCH

The big match of the day was between Somerville and Ken Black, the first tournament match they ever played against each other. They probably would be ranked one and two in a Canadian national listing. Somerville taking precedence on his play. Black's putting touch deserved him today, and this despite the fact he is the son of Dave Black, known among the pros as the champion putter of the world, to whom a twenty-five-footer seems as easy as a ball resting six inches from the pin.

BLACK GOES UNDER

Jack Matson, the Pacific Coast veteran from Victoria, fell under the pin and near-pins of Somerville in the first and near-pins of Somerville in the early days of play, before Palmer went on to humble the Toronto star, who was runner-up for the Canadian Intermediate title at London, and missed winning the Somerville Cup by a single stroke.

In the rounds of eighteen holes today, the field was cut from sixteen to four, with no startling upsets. Somerville, his eye trained on a fifth crown, eliminated two Canadians, Nichol Thompson, Jr., Toronto, and Ken Black. Jess Gullford, thirty-nine years old, but wise

Yankees and Tigers Rained Out; Chicago Splits With Boston

Fourth of Important Series Washed Out by Weather Man—Double-Header Today—Cubs Break Even—Cards Win Twice From Phils

By ALAN GOULD
Associated Press Sports Editor.

NEW YORK, Aug. 16 (AP)—Almost everyone, it seemed today, conceded that Detroit Tigers had demonstrated they possess too much power to be dislodged from their strangle-hold on the American League pennant lead.

The New Yorkers, somewhat battered and bruised, are five games behind the pace-setters with about six weeks of campaigning to go, but they feel confident they turned the tide in yesterday's victory over the Bengals, and they will pursue their recovery programme in the double-header, tomorrow, which winds up the crucial series. Today's rain, washing out the fourth game for the time being, was greeted with loud cheers by the athletes in both camps.

RAISES TIGERS

"The Tigers are good," commented Joe McCarthy, the usually silent pilot of the Yankees, "but they haven't clinched the pennant yet. Mickey Cochrane's club got plenty of room in running up their straight. It is just beginning a tough trip around the East, and may be due for a slump. The Yankees are not out of it, not by a long shot. We have a long home stand that should bring the club back to its best. Johnny Branca's fine pitching, yesterday, was one of the tonics we needed. There's one thing you can depend on, the Yankees will keep fighting."

"Well keep bearing down," countered Cochrane, "and win every game we can. I'm not claiming the pennant yet myself, but I don't see how this ball club of ours is going to be stopped, the way it's hitting."

NATIONAL LEAGUE

CHICAGO, Aug. 16 (AP)—The second-place Chicago Cubs failed to gain on the league-leading New York Giants today as they split a double-header with Brooklyn, 2-2, in 10 innings, but dropped a 6-4 decision in the nightcap, to remain four games behind the champions, who were rained out at Pittsburgh.

Security Prices Gain Slightly at New York Mart

NEW YORK, Aug. 16 (AP)—Holdings in a narrow range, stocks edged moderately higher in dull trading today.

With inflation talk sidetracked, markets scanned the horizon for signs of economic recovery. Strength in bonds was accepted as an indicator of improvement in confidence, and hopes revived for a moderate seasonal pickup in trade activity next month.

Demand for stocks converged upon communication, motor, tobacco, railroad share and specialties. Gains were general through the list, but the so-called inflation stocks were not prominent on the advance.

Turnover in stocks increased to 610,150 shares, compared with 574,750, yesterday. Early strength lacked follow-through and market reverted to a quiet drift before the close.

Western Union and Radio preferred "B" were outstanding among communication shares and closed more than 2 points higher.

Continued buying of lower-priced corporate issues carried many railroad and utility loans 1 to 2 points higher in today's bond market. There was a steady tone in prime investments and United States government.

Transfers approximated $12,371,000 par value, compared with $12,200,000, on Wednesday, and the Standard Statistics Company average of sixty domestic corporate loans advanced 3-10 of a point to 83.5.

Further improvement in Argentine issues featured the foreign section.

WHEAT PRICES DROP ONE CENT

Pressure of Hedging Sales Pushes Values Down Again at Winnipeg

WINNIPEG, Aug. 16 (CP)—Abundance of speculative demand and pressure of sales pushed wheat prices 11-8 to 15-8 cents lower on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange, today, despite resumption of Canadian export business and higher quotations at Liverpool.

The market closed near the day's low points, with October wheat at 88-3, December at 87-5 and May at 91-3 cents. Selling against the movement of new wheat to market proved the greatest burden on the big producers closed unchanged.

Several of the secondary gold issues were taken upward on heavy buying. Macassa gained 16c to 270; McKenzie Red Lake 14 to 166; Socie 90 to 257, and Sylvanite 8 to 275. Some silver shares, including Eldorado, Castle, Castle, Premier and Bear Exploration, were nickel to the extent of a few cents each, and in the base metals, Falconbridge Nickel, up 5 to 3.90, had about the only gain.

Trade volume was comparatively light, and late operations were routine in character. Early foreign sales of Canadian wheat aggregated 750,000 bushels.

Cash and coarse grains operations were in the doldrums.

Virginia Vane Says:

BETTER TO KNOW ABOUT FINANCIAL RESOURCES BEFORE MARRIAGE THAN AFTER

Dear Virginia Vane: Have I the right to sound out the financial position of the man I'm going to marry? I am twenty years of age, and have a good job of my own. But my fiance says nothing about his job or prospects—yet always has plenty to spend. He is rather sensitive, and I worry about how to approach the subject—Perplexed.

Throw away the maidenly modesty and get down to brass tacks on the sordid subject of cash, my dear Perplexed.

Just because there are girls like you in the world, full of confidence about money matters, there are a deplorable quantity of young men bluffing their way into matrimony.

It's the shy, nice-mannered girl who won't breathe a word as nasty as "bank-account" who lands herself with a ne'er-do-well who hasn't been able to hold down a job for more than a week in his whole life.

It's the daughter who tells her father angrily that he's not to dare to question her young man's financial wealth who drops home to that same father a few months after the wedding with a pitiful story or unpleasant revelations of sudden and shocking poverty.

You will say at this point, rather indignantly, that of course your young man wouldn't bluff you if he could, that you can read character, and that your family like him and that he has a number of good and respected friends.

But then, why in the world not talk to him about this very important matter of money?

Why this hesitancy about discussing the basis on which you two propose to eat and clothe yourselves and find shelter from the elements? Surely any young man with ordinary everyday practical sense would insist on making it all quite clear to the girl he proposed to annex for life!

Think of it, Perplexed. Would you go into an office, prepared to offer your services to the firm, for an unlimited amount of time, without inquiring whether you were to get in the way of remuneration?

Would you think very much of your mother as a housekeeper if she emerged a new maid without inquiring what the girl's record was, where she came from, and what her previous experience had been?

Would your father conceivably hire an office boy without the usual references?

None of your practical common-sense people would do any of these things, yet presumably you all intend quite quietly to say nothing, to ask nothing, which would upset or confuse the young man whom you propose to take into your family.

It's up to father or mother or you to ask for straight, hard, plain facts about the proposed addition to the family. Your father has every right to broach the subject of finances at the very earliest opportunity. And the suites of clothes that the financial discussion is unseemly before marriage must either be trained to think differently, or else discarded as a bad matrimonial investment.

Last Straw: It seems to me you're letting your feelings against your mother-in-law stand between you and your husband like a huge barrier. Admittedly you've had a tough time, but so have many other young brides, and usually their love for their husbands has made life endurable once mother-in-law has been shooed off to a more respectable distance.

Now you've got all the respectful distance you want. Your husband has made it clear that he is willing to stand up for his wife when she needs it. Yet you go on resenting his ideas and his opinions, because far away you can still hear the voice of the tyrant who's longing to manage your affairs.

You'll send the boy back to his mother if you don't give him more understanding and sympathy right now. He's done his level best to give you what you wanted. Naturally he isn't expert at pleasing a young wife. He doesn't know half the rules. But he's trying hard.

And you reward him by reminding him constantly of the insults his mother has hurled at you. You take it all out on him when she has given you a bad half-hour on the telephone. That isn't fair and it isn't good policy.

If you show yourself to be unreasonable, it will begin to occur to the harassed young man that perhaps his mother had a good deal to be said on her side. And the longer he thinks about it, the more convinced he'll become that your influence took him away from the all-embracing mother-love.

Back he'll go one day to the matriarch, who will be only too glad to console him. And it will be your fault.

Your hurt feelings are standing between you and happiness. You haven't been able to criticize. It's not an easy thing to get used to. But for the sake of the husband you love, start now to greet mother-in-law's sallies with a sense of humor. Learn to separate your feelings about her from your feeling about her son.

You'll grow in tolerance as you learn to take life more easily. Begin work on yourself now and watch your marriage improve perceptibly.

"Tell me candidly, doc, do you think I'll pull through?" asked the patient.

"Oh, you're bound to get well," replied the doctor. "You can't help it if you try!"

If August 17 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 10:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m., from 3:30 to 5:30 p.m. and from 8:30 to 10:30 p.m. The danger periods are from 6:30 to 8:30 a.m., from 12:30 to 2:30 p.m. and from 5:30 to 7:30 p.m.

This date may be marked by a prevalence of good humor existing in most of the marts of trade. Business will, to a certain extent, display a responsive activity to the stimulating effect of optimistic cheerfulness. You may be called upon to do something that is not exactly required of you by regular routine. Should this occur a ready acquiescence may bring about a substantial share of approbation. Your dwindling financial resources may receive a healthy bolstering up very shortly which should enable you to get something you have had your heart set on for a long time. A very commonplace event, which might hardly attract your attention, may take place on this date, and there is a possibility it will have an important bearing on your future. Be careful you accord any stranger that comes inside your doors a courteous reception, for rudeness might in time prove a boomerang. If love is making you feel like a chicken with the pips, brace up, for a new moon may bring a beneficial stimulation to your love sick spirit that may make you feel like you are walking in the seventh heaven.

If a woman on August 17 is your birthday, your imaginative powers should enable you to accomplish big things. You might, if thought out, if constructed along the right lines and directed into the proper channels, prove highly profitable. Journalism, or short story writing, should receive your careful consideration as a means of livelihood. Many born on this date have also found vast opportunities for self-expression through some form of creative art. Love will prove a powerful factor in your life, and a great deal of happiness should result from it.

The child born on August 17, as it grows up, may display evidence of

Data and Dates Of Victoria and Vancouver Island

ALL rivers, lakes and streams on Vancouver Island contain trout of some kind or other, chiefly rainbow or cut-throat. Large fish are caught in the lakes by trolling, but there is no trout water on the Island where the fish will not take a fly. Larger fish are caught on the fly, as a general rule, in the streams in the lakes.

In the heat of mid-Summer, when the rivers are low and fly fishing is not so good, except in the early morning and late evening, excellent sport is given by grilse, the best waters for these being off Brentwood Bay and Cowichan Bay, both of which places are also renowned for salmon fishing.

Of the several varieties of Pacific salmon, there are two with which the sportsman is principally concerned—the coho and the spring. The spring salmon is known by many aliases, notably tie, king and chinook.

The best known and easiest reached places on Vancouver Island for the biggest type salmon are Brentwood Bay, Cowichan Bay, Juan de Fuca River and Comox Bay on the East Coast, and Alberni and Nootka Sound on the West Coast.

Originality which will border close on to genius. Care should be used to determine what profession or career this child is best fitted to follow and its education should be preparatory for the one decided on.

If a man and August 17 is your natural day, you should gain a recognised position in whatever line of work you engage. Your originality of thought and power of expression should prove marvelous assets. A good woman's love is essential for your complete success.

Welcome Home, Telephone!

We certainly have missed you!"

THE Dodsworths have been without a telephone for months, but they had it put in again this morning. And are they happy about it!

It is a great relief for them to see the familiar instrument on the wall again, ready to do all sorts of jobs such as ordering groceries, or getting a doctor, or calling the police, or inviting people in for the evening.

Already Mrs. Dodsworth has been telephoning her friends to tell them that the telephone is in again. She wants them to know that once more it is easy to invite the Dodsworths to go places.

WILL PRESENT CLAIMS OF CITY

Mayor and Other Representatives of Victoria to Meet Hon. H. H. Stevens

This morning Mayor David Leeming, Aldermen John A. Worthington, Walter Lumey and Dr. J. D. Hunter will meet Hon. H. H. Stevens, Minister of Trade and Commerce in the Dominion Government, for the purpose of presenting the claims of Victoria for the construction of an auditorium in the city. At the same time, the position of the City Council with respect to the Dominion Marine Building, which it is proposed to erect on the western end of Johnson Street bridge, will be presented to the Federal Minister.

The committee from the City Council will be joined by representatives of the Chamber of Commerce, consisting of G. H. Stevens, James Parfitt and George I. Warren, managing secretary. D. B. Plunkett, M.P. for Victoria, will introduce the delegation from the council to the Minister. The meeting is to take place at 9:45 this morning at the Empress Hotel.

With respect to the Marine Building, the council favors construction of the structure at the site in proximity to the postoffice, rather than on the opposite side of the harbour.

AUDITORIUM PROJECT

In the matter of the obtaining of an appropriation of Government funds for an auditorium, the committee will urge that this is much needed in Victoria, and would afford an added means of attracting tourists to the general advantage of the Dominion.

The expenditure of money on this undertaking, while it will be advanced, would be a very acceptable way of giving employment at this time, reflecting the unemployment situation as far as Victoria is concerned.

The Minister will be advised of the fact that the attitude of the Minister of Public Works at Ottawa would indicate that such a policy as that sought to be carried out in Victoria was in keeping with the intention of the Government in making the grant for work.

The treatment is to give salt by mouth, vein, or other route at once.

It cannot bring home a wandering son or daughter, or stay divorce proceedings or legal separation.
